Does the battery in your computer not go the distance anymore or does your computer only run-on power?

It could be most likely that your computer needs a battery Replacement.

Battery Replacements we can normally complete in one day if it is just a straight battery replacement.

There are many different types of batteries on the market and batteries do have a shelf life, We do keep some of the more popular batteries in stock but we cant keep every type of battery in stock. If we don't have your battery in stock we can usually, get it in stock by the next morning,

If that is the case, you can take your computer home for the night if you desire and bring it back in the next day for the battery fitment and test.
